

r/airbnb_hosts • 1y ago

im-obsolete

Schlage Encode & Vrbo

I'm considering purchasing the Schlage Encode for its integration with AirBnb. How would you use this device for a different company? Would I have to manually generate a new code manually for tenants that don't use AirBnb?

And considering all of this, is choosing a key lock that integrates with AirBnb worth it?

Archived post. New comments cannot be posted and votes cannot be cast.

0

13

upwork • Promoted

Hire on Upwork, the one-stop shop.

Sign Upupwork.comUpwork
@upwork

Hire top freelancers in as little as a day. FR.

Sort by: Best ▾

Search Comments

AutoModerator

MOD • 1y ago •

Stickied comment

OrnerAcanthaceae217 • 1y ago

This has worked great for me so far. My Vrbo bookings are a bit of a pain. So far I set a single "Vrbo Guest" code in the lock, and then put that code into Vrbo in the arrival instructions. This doesn't disable at checkout, but otherwise provides the same guest experience as the Airbnb integration.

We're looking at using a channel manager that provides this feature for all guests.

im-obsolete OP • 1y ago

And you do all of this remotely?

Yeah. There's a good Schlage Encode app where it takes like ten seconds to add or delete a code from the lock. And then I go to the Vrbo site to type it in.

anonymous2024758 • 1y ago

I like ours but I don't integrate it, it would make me nervous that the company would mess something up or have down time.

im-obsolete OP • 1y ago

Are you at least able to set the code remotely? How do you manage things?

Wittykitty312 • 1y ago

Unverified

Yes we can setup codes for the whole month on the app. Also has capability to set start and end times for access codes. If the guest is having trouble getting in for some reason, you can unlock the door for them.

We do not integrate with Airbnb, just do it manually and find it very easy.

anonymous2024758 • 1y ago

Yes it's all remote. You can also set like 10 back up codes for any issues. You also need to get a lock box and put the physical key in it outside of the entry somewhere if you don't like nearby.

u/TheTurnoApp • Promoted

Finding cleaners for your vacation rental is easier than ever. Turno matches you with vetted pros in minutes.

Learn More

turno.com

monochromatic_sweats • 1y ago

Unverified

We also use Schlage Encode for both VRBO and Airbnb, and don't integrate. We use the last 4 digits of the booking guest's cell that is registered with the booking since that is easier to remember than a Airbnb is easier for messages since it will auto-send at a certain time and you can have it input the code in the email using their message creator. For VRBO, I do the same thing, just type their code into the template check-in message I created.

The Schlage app is easy to use but I wish there was a regular PC version as well 🙏

RizzardOfOz76 • 1y ago

+1000 if Schlage would only let us manage encodes from a web or PC app my life would be infinitely easier. We currently use 60 of their locks.

ThundaBears • 1y ago

Unverified

Schlage encode is the best lock imo.

I used to integrate the lock with our pms, but I stopped when they started to monetize it. It would change the code to the last 4 digits of the guests phone number.

I now use consistent codes for every stay, and haven't had an issue.

Even without integration the lock is still amazing. You don't need an electric strike on your door. You can use the app to unlock the door at any time. You can set it so it auto locks after x seconds. I usually do 1 minute as this is long enough for the guests to unload or load their car without having to constantly input the code. The app sends you notifications when the batteries are low too.

Another good thing about this lock is that the guest only has to input the 4 digit code and it unlocks. They don't have to hit # or * before or after the code, or manually turn the lock to gain entry. This saves you a bunch of time by not having to send messages or refer to your check in message on how to get in.

https://www.amazon.com/gp/aw/d/B0BW4SPK7T?psc=1&ref=ppx_pop_mob_b_asin_title

This is the one that I use and recommend to everyone.

MentalBox7789 • 1y ago

🔑 Host

If you have a channel manager it should work fine with a number of platforms. Just choose one that integrates with Airbnb, VRBO, and Schlage.

sbean56 • 9mo ago

Create

3