

r/airbnb_hosts • 2y ago

onsenworld Unverified

Schlage Encode Plus question

Question

Hi there- I recently bought the Schlage Encode Plus lock through Airbnb, getting a discount.

Airbnb creates a code for each guest and the check in time is set as 3 pm and check out at 12 pm.

I would like to be flexible and adjust the times on a case by case basis, but it's not possible. I've talked to Airbnb and they say they don't have the option. I'd have to change my general settings for everyone.

When I change the check in / check out times in the Schlage app it reverts back to the times in my reservation.

Does anyone have a work around or service they use that lets me do this?

I think I can use the Schlage app to unlock the door, but I'm going to be traveling soon and won't always be available.

Archived post. New comments cannot be posted and votes cannot be cast.

2

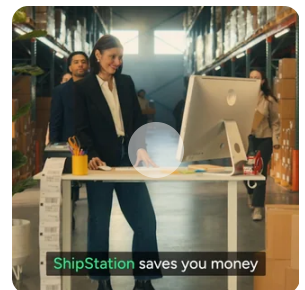

10

auctane • Promoted

Set your shipping rules once. Let ShipStation handle the rest. ShipStation serves 1.3M customers and ships 1.5T packages globally.

View Moreshipstation.com

Sort by: Best ▾

Search Comments

AutoModerator

MOD • 2y ago •

Stickied comment

Pure-Statement-8726 • 2y ago

Unverified

onsenworld OP • 2y ago
Unverified

Interesting, it wasn't giving me the option before the check in day to change the time, but now (day of check in) there is an edit button. Unfortunately it is saying 'something went wrong on our end' when I try to edit the time.

×

Streetduck • 2y ago • Edited 2y ago
Unverified

Hi there, where do I go in the app to adjust those times? I'm having the same issue as OP; I want to give my renter a late check out but the app keeps reverting the time back.

Edit: nvm found it- it worked!

goober153 • 2y ago
Unverified

I just got the encode installed and gave my last guest late check out. I went into the all and changed the times. I did not double check to see if airbnb reverted it though. I will have to do that next time.

If you do decide to give flexible times, on a case by case scenario. You could make a new code with the times you want and give to the guest.

onsenworld OP • 2y ago
Unverified

That's a good idea just giving them a different code with the times I want. When you say 'I went into the all and changed the times' I'm not sure what area you mean. Today I am given the option to edit the time of my reservation that starts today but I get an error message when I try

×

newfoundand44 • 2y ago
Host

I recently got the same front door keypad, but I did not go through airbnb. I assign a four digit code myself with the time and dates limited. I even asked the guest if they would like any particular four digit

Create

the plus version. On my second short term rental, I installed the regular version that is not plus and it works fine. Since you are having problems with Airbnb automatically reverting it to its own defaults, I would recommend anyone getting this particular keypad lock for the front door, consider not go through Airbnb, and rather assign the codes themselves.

onsenworld OP · 2y ago
Unverified

That's a good idea. I'll start bypassing Airbnb sending codes. I wonder why you're phone isn't opening the door when you try to do that. It seemed to sync ok for me, and the iPhone phone is a couple years old.

Inevitable_Push_9392 · 2y ago
Unverified

what's the discount code?

onsenworld OP · 2y ago
Unverified

I looked on the airbnb site, and I don't think they are offering the discount anymore. I got it through clicking a link. There's a link here, but the page isn't found.

<https://www.airbnb.com/resources/hosting-homes/a/connect-a-smart-lock-to-airbnb-for-smoother-check-ins-667>